Strong Georgia peach crop in the works

Georgia peach growers are anxiously awaiting first harvest of what is shaping up to be the best crop in years. Harvest is expected to begin around the May 15 and continue through the Aug. 15. Following last year's bumper crop, consumers are eagerly awaiting the quintessential summertime fruit.

With the current situation surrounding COVID-19, many retailers are expecting a huge lift in southern peach sales this summer.

"Many are touting fresh peaches as the feel-good fruit of the summer. With these uncertain times, we're glad to be able to support our peach partners throughout the summer season. Everyone needs a taste of familiar comfort these days and we're ready to bring back some normalcy to consumers nationwide with the juicy, healthy and unmatched flavor of a Georgia peach," said Will McGehee, partner with Genuine Georgia.

Genuine Georgia expects to pack nearly 3 million boxes of Georgia peaches during the summer months. Offering convenient grab-and-go two-pound bags as well as fresh peaches sold loose by the pound or the each.
